

Advanced Practical Course M – WS20/21

Summary of the most important points

- Hygiene and distance rules must be observed
- Max. 4 participants per room (up to 3 students & 1 supervisor)
- Face-to-face experiments are preferred in general, otherwise online versions are possible
- About 1 week before each experiment, there will be an online assessment via zoom. Please contact the supervisors in time to arrange an appointment for this meeting.

Formalia

- Please hand in the signed “Declaration on the participation in the Advanced Practical Course M” (see below) to the supervisor before carrying out the experiment - otherwise your participation is not permitted.
- For your inspection, there is a risk assessment which explains all measures to prevent the spread of the coronavirus. Please do not remove this document from the room.
- On the homepage of the University of Cologne you will find all information about Corona as well as the regulations on hygiene and distance, etc.: <https://portal.uni-koeln.de/coronavirus>. Please wear a mouth-and-nose cover (“everyday mask, MNC”) during your stay for the experiments.
- Pay particular attention to the University of Cologne's ban on people with a corona infection or people who have been in close contact with an infected person or come from particular regions as announced on the website.
- You are responsible for your own health. A risk from your participation in the practical course can be minimized, but not completely excluded. If you belong to a risk group, you cannot take part in the face-to-face version. In such cases, we will arrange online solutions.

Organisational

- An online preliminary meeting takes place about a week before the test date for each experiment. Please contact the respective supervisor in good time to arrange this appointment. Prepare yourself intensively for this preliminary discussion with the basics of the respective experiment, so that only technical details need to be clarified during the actual experiment and the contact time can be minimized.
- At the beginning of your experiments, come to the meeting point agreed with your supervisors during the online preliminary meeting. Keep the minimum distance from other people and avoid the formation of crowds while waiting for the supervisor to pick you up.
- Masks are required in the University buildings. Please bring your own mask. This can be a simple textile mask, but make sure that it stays in place as you will have to wear it for the entire duration of the experiment.
- At the entrance you will find dispensers with hand disinfectant. Frequent hand washing with soap is recommended. Disposable gloves will be provided during the experiments.
- The reports of the experimental results are emailed to the supervisors as PDF or JPG.
- Further organizational details and deadlines can be found on the websites of the Advanced Practical Courses M and also in the general information bulletin available there.
